For comprehensiveness and diversity this is a unique source of information for scientists, librarians, literary scholars and historians

Latin writings from numerous countries over a period of six centuries have been recorded on a single CD-ROM. With approximately 473,000 entries (an increase of 20% over the 2nd edition) the Latin Bibliography represents surely the most comprehensive record of titles in Latin. In all it covers works from around 140 countries, including

- ca. 28 % from Germany
- ca. 13 % from Italy
- ca. 17 % from Great Britain
- ca. 9 % from France
- ca. 7 % from the Netherlands
- ca. 5 % from the USA.

The entire world of Latin writings from the 15th century to the present day

The Bibliography reflects the worldwide importance of Latin as a language of culture and education: well into modern times Latin remained a "lingua universalis" in the worlds of scholarship, poetry, administration and diplomacy. The Bibliography lists theological, philosophical and scientific treatises and dissertations, works of European Humanism, official ecclesiastical writings, Latin Bible translations, works of Church patriarchs, literature of the Middle Ages and writings of Roman antiquity.

22 search criteria can be combined to provide unparalleled ease of access to the comprehensive bibliography.

For example, you can find out in a matter of seconds what titles were published in Latin, on the subject of "Seneca", in the 17th century, or call up the editions of works by the author published during the 17th century. Alternatively, you could filter out all dissertations related to medicine or search for works with the term "astronomiae" or "astronomica" in their title. The users thirst for knowledge is rewarded by the variety of search possibilities with an almost limitless scope.

Differentiated indexing of the contents

About 72% of all titles include subject headings, LC classification or Dewey classification. Users can also carry out very specific searches on particular subjects with the aid of title-key-words or publication type information, and compile, print and export their own bibliographies. Consequently, a bibliography of Latin sources from the reign of emperor Karl V is the work of seconds.

Detailed, clearly arranged information in numerous display and output formats

The bibliographical entries, which have been entered in MARC format, can be called up, saved and printed either as a brief list or as a full record in five different formats and can be exported in MARC-Communications format. The CD-ROM has a user-friendly Windows interface available in five language versions thereby allowing the user to install an English, French, German, Italian or Spanish interface at any time.

This CD-ROM is part of the World Bibliographies on CD-ROM series. The purpose of this series is to record literature published throughout the world since the 15th century in individual languages or for particular subject areas. The series is a collaborative project with the Research Libraries Group (RLG), an association of American and European research libraries. Famous, large libraries as well as smaller libraries specializing in a single subject, register their holdings with the RLG. Updates are published at roughly two year intervals.
